525 MILES
OF THE
UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD
Running West from Omaha
ACROSS THE CONTINENT,
ARE NOW COMPLETED.

THIS BRINGS THE LINE TO THE EASTERN BASE of the Rocky Mountains, and it is expected that the track will be laid thirty miles further, to Evans Pass, the highest point on the road, by January. The maximum grade from the foot of the mountains to the summit is but eighty feet to the mile, while that of many eastern roads is over one hundred. Work in the rock-cuttings on the western slope will continue through the winter, and there is now no reason to doubt that the entire grand line to the Pacific will be open for business in 1870.

The means provided for the construction of this Great National Work are ample. The United States grants its Six Per Cent. Bonds at the rate of from $16,000 to $48,000 per mile, for which it takes a second lien as security, and receives payment to a large if not to the full extent of its claim in services. These bonds are issued as each twenty mile section is finished, and after it has been examined by the United States Commissioners and pronounced to be in all respects a first class road, thoroughly supplied with depots, repair-shops, stations, and all the necessary rolling stock and other equipments.

The United States also makes a donation of 12,800 acres of land to the mile, which will be a source of large revenue to the Company. Much of this land in the Platte Valley is among the most fertile in the world, and other large portions are covered with heavy pine forests and abound in coal of the best quality.

The Company is also authorized to issue its own First Mortgage Bonds to an amount equal to the issue of the Government and no more. Hon. E. D. Morgan and Hon. Oakes Ames are Trustees for the Bondholders, and deliver the bonds to the Company only as the work progresses, so that they always represent an actual and productive value.

The authorized capital of the Company is One Hundred Million Dollars, of which over five millions have been paid in upon the work already done.

EARNINGS OF THE COMPANY.

At present, the profits of the Company are derived only from its local traffic, but this is already much more than sufficient to pay the interest on all the Bonds the Company can issue, if not another mile were built. It is not doubted that when the road is completed the through traffic of the only line connecting the Atlantic and Pacific States will be large beyond precedent, and, as there will be no competition, it can always be done at profitable rates.

It will be noticed that the Union Pacific Railroad is, in fact, a Government Work, built under the supervision of Government officers, and to a large extent with Government money, and that its bonds are issued under Government direction. It is believed that no similar security is so carefully guarded, and certainly no other is based upon a larger or more valuable property. As the Company's are offered for the present at 95 CENTS ON THE DOLLAR, IN U. S. CURRENCY, they are the cheapest security in the market, being more than 15 per cent. lower than U. S. Stocks. They pay

SIX PER CENT. IN GOLD,

or over NINE PER CENT. upon the investment. Subscriptions will be received in Portland by

A NEW PAMPHLET AND MAP showing the Progress of the Work, Resources for Construction, and Value of Bonds, may be obtained at the Company's Offices or of its advertised Agents, or will be sent free on application.

Spirit of the State Press.

The "Democratic" gazettes during the last fortnight have had more than their usual "spirit" in them. Most of the "peace" journals have become violent advocates of war, and a few of them are trying to imitate the ferocious eloquence of Moloch at the Stygian Council, whom nothing but war would satisfy. It does not appear, however, that any of these valiant ink slingers are anxious to take the field in person to save A. Johnson, and some of them distinctly declare that while they would be gratified to see a few myriads of abolitionists put to the sword, or balancing in a pendulous manner upon gibbets, they are not going to do anything for the man who "so basely betrayed them." The Guard informs the sturdy "Democracy" of Long Tom, who, by the way, have not yet given up the "lost cause" as irretrievably lost, that they "will be compelled to rise in their might and forcibly wrest their liberties from the grasp of the usurpers." That paper proceeds in its wail in this blood-curdling style:

As the crowning and most infamous of the results of hell's saturnalia of blood, rapine and murder, we see the legislative department of the government in the hands of a fanatical mob. The constitutional prerogatives of the Executive wrenched from him by perjury, fraud and violence. Army officers are in open insubordination to their constitutional chief, and the soldiery a mutinous rabble. Another civil war almost inevitable if the people ever regain their lost liberties and the right of self-government. God forefend the calamity!

How easy all this might have been avoided if the country had accepted the "Democratic" theory of disintegration, and allowed the rebel States their "liberties!" The Guard is probably correct in supposing that they will never regain the "right of self-government," as they had it in the palmy days of the "Confederacy."

The Reveille, the "lost cause" organ in Southern Oregon, actually makes merry over Johnson's woes. It heads its dispatch, "Johnson Unseated! —The World in Tears!!," and proceeds in the following strain:

Flashing along the wires, and startling the nation from the Atlantic to the Pacific, comes the news that Congress has arisen and kicked Andrew Johnson from the White House, and that Wade has gobbled his seat. The citizens were wild with excitement. The militia had been called out—seven colored regiments—under the command of Julius Cæsar Pompeii, Jr., Brig. Gen., whose utmost endeavors could scarce restrain an outbreak. An excited individual, just arrived from Goose Lake says it is currently reported there that the police are in hot pursuit of Johnson, and if he is captured, Congress will pass a law to have him beheaded; and that unless Johnson vetoes it, he will be guillotined. This is probably an exaggerated report.

All of which goes to show how deep is the solicitude of the simon pures for their "betrayer."

The Courier, however, places a higher estimate on A. Johnson. This is owing to the fact that Jasper is a "soft shell," he having originally approved of the "Abolition crusade," but having, after a time, gone back to the "Democracy." He says:

From a short time after Mr. Johnson became President, he, like a tribune of the people, has hurled back the evil cohorts of America's enemies, that have been making giant onslough(?) upon the public welfare and safety, and we do not believe any one who is fully awakened to the importance of the times now upon us, can fail to see that we owe the preservation of what constitutional liberty there is left us, to the herculean efforts of Andrew Johnson, and that if the rads succeed in his removal our country will soon be numbered among the republics that have been but are not, except good men and true, by force of arms oust the fiends from their high places.

This is modest enough to have been dictated by A. Johnson himself, and we could not at this moment venture to assert that it was not derived from some one of his numerous speeches, in which he praise himself as a great, good and patriotic man. The idea that the country owes to Andrew Johnson all that it possesses which makes it great and glorious, has hardly been surpassed in the "humble individual's" best oratorical efforts. It is noticeable that the Courier remarks that "from a short time after he became President" he has been doing these great things. That paper will not be betrayed into an approval of what he did during the first few months of his Administration.

The Albany Democrat presents the matter in this wise:

We will not insult our readers by offering an argument to show that the President has a constitutional right to remove any member of his cabinet whenever he chooses to do so, without consulting the Senate or obtaining its advice or consent. The cabinet officers are appointed by the President, entirely upon his own responsibility, and his right to remove them, without interference or dictation from Congress, has never been questioned until recently. The tenure of office bill is unconstitutional, and we have but little doubt it will be so decided if it can be properly brought before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Perhaps it would have been as well for the Democrat to "insult its readers" a little in regard to these matters. The President has no power to appoint any officer "on his own responsibility," and never had. The power of appointment rests with the President and the Senate. His right to remove officers without interference from Congress has always been questioned by many of our ablest statesmen. Whatever the President might have done in the matter of removing officers before the civil tenure act was passed, he has no right and no constitutional power to remove them in violation of that law. The Democrat declares that the law is unconstitutional,—an assertion which proves what great fools Webster, Calhoun, Clayton and others were, who advocated the enactment of such a law more than thirty years ago.

The Roseburg Ensign notices that the Herald pompously asserts that "nothing short of the criminal folly of Democrats can prevent them from gaining ascendency in this State," and replies in the following spirited manner:

Now, Mr. Herald, this "criminal folly" which you speak of is just the very thing that will prevent the Democracy from gaining the ascendency for a series of years yet to come, if not forever.

The criminal folly of instigating, aiding and abetting the rebellion, will not soon be forgotten by loyal people.

The criminal folly of attempting to bankrupt the nation by a disgraceful and fraudulent system of indirect repudiation of the war debt, and violation of the national faith will injure you.

The criminal folly of encouraging the turbulent rebels to madly hold out in their resistance to the laws of Congress, long after they were properly whipped and would have abided the laws, but for this wicked advice, will do you harm.

The Unionist observes that,—

The Democracy of Oregon may be considered in a spirit of inharmonious harmony. In fact, they are about as harmonious as a family of wildcats exasperated by famine. The party is composed of elements which are exceedingly hard to fuse, and which are kept going in the same direction with the utmost difficulty. The few enlightened and well disposed ones are ashamed of their associates, while the majority, including the straight out secessionists, members of the Jones Family and vagabonds from Price's army, despise and distrust the others as pusillanimous and half converted, and are disposed to cover [illegible] to the wall.

The Sentinel has the following remarks on those who "sneer at the blue":

During the struggle for national unity, the peace Democracy hissed and wriggled like adders among the moving columns and in the camps of the nation's heroes. They could not prevent them from planting the national banner again over every foot of American soil. Now, like the fiend who left his slime on the tomb of the Christian and the patriot, because his soul was beyond his reach, they spit upon the garments of the nation's defenders, and sneeringly allude to them as "shoulder strapped gentry." For those who sneer at the brave men who fought our battles, we have a contempt and loathing, such as we might have for a scorpion that turns and stings itself, finding no other mark for its venom; and history will be false if it does not hold them up to the scorn and execration of all mankind.

We have an extract from the Courier which we must insert as a specimen of the highest style of argument for which that paper is celebrated; and as we could find no appropriate place for it in any preceding part of this article, we are forced to give it here. Our greatest bard says:

The setting sun and music at its close,
As the last taste of sweets is sweetest last,
Writ in remembrance more than things long past,

and on this principle we give this extract as the final one, believing that this is the way to secure for it the attention it deserves:

What we fought, that we whipped. If the seceded States, these we crushed out of existence; for upon the close of a war between one nation and another, if no treaty be made, re gaining the existence of the inferior power, it must [illegible] the entire dominion of the superior power. Plainly speaking, any nation that cannot insist until its existence is in some way recognized by treaty stipulation at the close of the war, is [illegible] power.

Silverton.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

This thriving village is pleasantly [illegible] on the banks of Silver Creek, a [illegible] and [illegible] stream flowing from the Cascade Mountains, over the famous Silver Creek Falls, and [illegible] others, eastward into the Willamette. In the midst of a rich agricultural district—Howell Prairie on the east, and Waldo Hills on the [illegible] it possesses great advantages in a business [illegible] of view. With respect to climate, health and [illegible] of site it cannot be surpassed in Oregon. Near the foothills of the Cascade Mountains, it is protected from the cold winds and, I am informed, there is hardly a winter during which the snow covers the ground, though the hills, a [illegible] distant, are wrapped with a mantle of white. The rapid stream, Silver Creek, bears away [illegible] its waters the impurities, and the [illegible] so common in low and level countries are unknown here. But all the advantages of location do not explain the rapidly increasing prosperity of the town. The people of this [illegible] are [illegible] with energy sufficient not to allow their school-houses to decay and their own dwellings to fall about their heads. Possessed of public spirit and intelligence sufficient to repress envy, they unite generally upon those measures which pertain to the public good, however much they may differ in politics. There are three general merchandise stores, a drug store, two blacksmith shops, a carding machine, two saddle and [illegible] two wagon shops, and two grist mills, all doing a flourishing business. The old firm of Davenport & Wolford makes sales to the amount of thirty thousand dollars a year. What [illegible] notice is the flourishing school in this place, averaging during the year over [illegible] hundred scholars, and which is under the charge of Prof. Hunt, a graduate of Dartmouth, assisted by Miss Mary A. Robinson, a [illegible] of the Willamette University, and Miss Arlina Brown. It may safely be said, that the Silverton College is second to none in the State in discipline and thoroughness, and the [illegible] of the place, as well as students, take [illegible] in [illegible] well conducted school. The exhibition, which took place Saturday evening, March 7th, was attended by at least five hundred people, and was a brilliant success, reflecting great credit [illegible] the talent and industry of teacher and students. All [illegible] creditably performed their parts in the exercises, consisting of dialogues, orations, declamations, tableaux and burlesques. Of the ladies, the Misses Eliza Hays, Annie Rawlings, Frankie A. Dunbar, Mary C. Samson, [illegible] Eastham, Viola Davis, Mary Bruce, Mary Stephens and [illegible] Dudley deserve particular notice, and of the gentlemen Messrs. E. P. Smith, Fred. Mascher, Wm. H. Samson, J. Rigdon, John and [illegible] White, Oliver Wolford, Chas. and Lafayette Davis, and Walter Davenport.

Wm. H. Samson in a mirth-provoking capacity is certainly a genius. A Latin oration was well delivered by Fred. Mascher, and one in Greek by E. P. Smith; on the whole we were very favorably impressed with the culture displayed and the zeal manifested throughout. Our acquaintance in Silverton is somewhat limited, yet such as to impress us very favorably with respect to the intelligence and enterprise of its people. VENI.

SILVERTON, March 9, 1868.

EDITOR OREGONIAN:

According to arrangements, the scholars of Silverton College met to express their kind sentiments toward their teachers. J. R. White called the meeting to order. On motion E. P. Smith was elected Chairman, and J. R. White Secretary. On motion a committee of five were appointed to draft a series of resolutions, who reported as follows:

WHEREAS, We, the scholars of Silverton College, are now about to part for a short period, after having attended the school of Prof. J. P. Hunt, Miss Mary A. Robinson and Miss Arlina Brown, and being convinced that we have, during that time, been advanced by their untiring efforts in all of the various branches beyond our utmost expectations, therefore be it

Resolved, That our heartfelt thanks are due the said Prof. J. P. Hunt, Miss Mary A. Robinson and Miss Arlina Brown, and we will ever gratefully remember them, and cherish the best of feeling toward them, both as students and friends.

Resolved, That it is our fond hope that we may have the pleasure of listening to their discourses and instructions through many succeeding terms.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be handed to each of the teachers, and also for publication to the OREGONIAN, American Unionist and Capital Chronicle.

THE METEORIC SHOWER IN NOVEMBER.—Some curious information, says a New York paper, in regard to the shower of meteors which occurred in November last, was obtained by observations made at the National Observatory, in Washington. The bright meteors appeared at a height of 75 miles above the earth, and were extinguished at a height of 55 miles. The average length of their path was 22 miles. During the thickest of the shower they were counted at the rate of three thousand per hour. Their velocity was 44 miles per second. The thickness of the stream, from north to south, was 60,000 miles, and it is estimated that there were 40,000 meteors to a lineal mile or one meteor to every 900,000 cubic miles of space. Professor Newcomb believes that Tuttle's comet of 1866, which these November meteors follow, is itself simply an agglomeration of meteorids, just dense enough to be visible in the solar rays, and he thinks that the same is true of the other telescopic comets. The November show of next year will begin at ten o'clock A. M., Washington time, and will, therefore, only be visible on the Pacific ocean.

The "people" of Kentucky, that is, the rebel Legislature, solemnly declare that they observe "with deep concern" the action of Congress requiring that not less than two-thirds of the Supreme Judges shall be sufficient to invalidate a law of Congress. The same men "observed with deep concern" every effort made in the last six years to save the Government. They had better be concerned about the character of Kentucky.

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 13, 1868.

New Hampshire.

The first gun of the great political campaign of 1868 is heard in New Hampshire. Its peal reverberates through the country as the signal of the great victories which the Union party will achieve before the close of the year. We fully maintain our ground in that State, carrying the election by more than 3,000 majority, and doing as well as we did when we swept all the States of the Union like a tornado. In 1864 Lincoln had but 3,561 majority in New Hampshire, and of this [illegible] less than half was given by the soldiers in the field. The present victory in New Hampshire is presaging. It is an earnest of 20,000 majority in Pennsylvania, 30,000 in Ohio, 50,000 in Illinois, and of the redemption of New York and California. It means that a combination of Copperheads and rebels shall not rule this country. It means that the people are impeaching Andrew Johnson. There are to be no "side issues" this year. The triumph of the Union party will everywhere be complete and overwhelming, as it always is when that party devotes itself to national questions, and bears before it, full high advanced, the banner of liberty, [illegible] and the rights of man.

H. W. S.

The Great Expounder on the Tenure of Office Act.

As an expounder of the Constitution, Daniel Webster was regarded in his day as a very respectable authority. Before the entire modern Democratic party became constitutional lawyers, Webster was heard with respect, and his opinions were allowed to have very great weight. He has left a clear record of his views in regard to a matter which is now of much interest,—we mean the power of appointment to and removal from office, under the Constitution;—and though his opinions on this subject may not be, in the estimation of such wise men as the Democratic editors of this State, quite so valuable as their own, we venture to think that there may be others who would take an interest in what the Great Expounder has said on a subject which has lately been agitated so much, and who would deem his views entitled to very high consideration.

In regard to the power of appointment, there [illegible] has been but one opinion, viz: That it belongs to the President and the Senate in conjunction. We have heretofore observed that the First Congress, 1789, by an exceedingly close vote, affirmed that the power of removal belonged to the President. That this, as Justice Story remarks in his Commentaries, was "an aberration from the true constitutional exposition of the power of removal," is maintained by the very highest authorities, and by none more distinctly than by Webster. In 1835 this subject was exhaustively discussed by the Senate when a bill for the regulation of the tenure of civil offices was under consideration, a bill which was supported by nearly all the men of great ability in the Senate. In regard to the affirmation of Congress in 1789, that the power of removal rests with the President, Mr. Webster said: "I believe it to be within the just power of Congress to reverse the decision of 1789, and I [illegible] to hold myself at liberty to act upon that question, hereafter, as I think the safety of the Government and the Constitution may require."

The view maintained by Webster was that the removing power naturally belongs to and is a part of the appointing power. He observed that the appointing power was carefully defined, limited [illegible] that nothing was said about the removing power, and that this silence concerning the latter could not be accounted for on any other ground than that the framers of the Constitution regarded both the powers as one, and supposed they had provided for them together. If [illegible] had been any intention to separate and divide the two powers it is incredible to suppose that this intention would not have been expressed in plain words. There would not have been total silence on a point of so much importance.

"The regulation of the tenure of office," (we quote directly from Webster's speech) "is a common [illegible] of legislative authority, and the power of Congress, in this particular, is not at all restricted or limited by anything contained in the Constitution, except in regard to judicial officers. All the rest is left to the ordinary discretion of the legislature. Congress may give the offices which it creates, except those of judges, what duration it pleases. When the office is created, and is to be filled, the President is to nominate the candidate to fill it; but, when he comes into office, he comes in upon the conditions and restrictions which the law may have attached to it. If Congress were to declare by law that the Attorney General or Secretary of State should hold his office during good behavior, I am not aware of any ground on which such a law could be held unconstitutional."

The reasoning by which these views are maintained is too lengthy to be quoted here; but we may remark that it has all the clearness, directness and force which Webster was accustomed to give his arguments on constitutional question. The doctrine he maintained is precisely that which is affirmed in the present tenure of office act. His arguments may be evaded, but to answer them would be no easy task. At the close of his elaborate speech, he recapitulated his opinions as follows: "I think that the power of appointment naturally and necessarily includes the power of removal, where no limitation is expressed, nor any tenure but that at will declared. The power of appointment being conferred on the President and Senate, I think the power of removal goes along with it, and should have been regarded as part of it, and exercised by the same hands. I think, consequently, that the decision of 1789, which implied a power of removal, separate from the appointing power, was erroneous. I think that the Legislature possesses the power of negotiating the conditions, duration, qualification and tenure of office in all cases where the Constitution has made no express provision on the subject." Webster's Speeches, vol. II, 461.

It is easy enough for Copperhead editors and orators to talk flippantly about the Tenure of Office Act being unconstitutional; but it would be entirely safe to say that not one in a thousand of them has ever examined the matter or acquired the smallest knowledge in regard to it, on which a respectable opinion could be founded. They cry "unconstitutional" without knowing why, and never seek any rational ground on which to base an argument to support their assertions. If they knew anything about this subject, most of them would be less ready to give their opinions upon it.

A "RELIGIOUS" ITEM.—Just listen to Abbot, of the Democrat, on "religious" matters. His religion seems to all run to Stanton and the devil:

> Just now (and for some time past) considerable religious interest is manifested in the Baptist church of Albany of which Dr. Hill is pastor. Last week five members were received into the Baptist church. It is the only one in Albany that is aggressive. In all the rest the devil maintains his position as resolutely and definitely as Stanton holds on to his position as Secretary of War. We would just remark en passant, that if we wished to picture the devil we would paint Stanton, in life-like colors, and add horns, cloven feet and forked tail. For innate meanness, villainy and bloodthirstiness Stanton has not had his equal since the days of Danton and Robespierre.

New Hampshire Election.

CONCORD, March 10.—The election is progressing with spirit in the several wards. A full vote is already polled. The Republicans are ahead and sanguine.

DOVER, March 10.—Both parties are hard at work, apparently in full confidence.

CONCORD, March 10, 3 P. M.—The returns received strongly indicate the re-election of Harriman, Republican, by an increased majority.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The business for consideration on which the Senate went into executive session, was the treaty negotiated with Prussia relative to the rights of naturalized citizens.

The House Reconstruction Committee in introducing the bill for the restoration of Alabama to representation, makes a lengthy report, setting forth that threats and intimidation and other obstacles were used for a repression of a free and full opinion. They say they intended to adhere to the spirit of the law, and have no doubt that a large majority of the registered voters favor the adoption of the new constitution.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The specials say Van Wycke will report to-morrow from the Committee on Retrenchment suggesting a remedy for the frauds in the non-payment of taxes on whisky: First, for the complication of the tax system and the abolishment of bonded warehouses in order that the great and rapacious army of officials may be rooted out; second, that the tax should be materially reduced and collected at the still, and estimating its capacity. The tax should be fifty cents per gallon and by this reduction double the present amount of revenue would be received.

In the House, Woodward inquired whether the tax on whisky was to be reduced.

Shoemaker said there were no provisions of that kind in this, a majority of the committee had, however, decided to stand by the two dollar tax. The general taxation bill would provide a two dollars tax.

Banks, from the Committee on Foreign affairs, reported a bill in regard to the rights of citizens abroad. After debate the House adjourned.

In the Senate, after executive session, the diplomatic appropriation bill passed. The mission to Portugal is allowed to remain. The bill also appropriates funds providing for consuls at Osaca and Yeddo, Japan, at a salary of $3,000 each. The missions at Ecuador and Bolivia are allowed to remain.

The Times' special says the bill admitting Alabama will not pass the Senate till after the impeachment trial. It is conceded that it will not be able to protect the loyal people if the military support be taken away, unless there is a change in the executive. Arkansas is looked upon as a safer State to try the experiment.

The World's correspondent gives the details of a conversation with the President on the subject of impeachment, during which the President said he should respond to the summons and appear by counsel. He said "the gentlemen in the House who originated the impeachment lacked the courage to defend either the Constitution or the Union against the attack of the rebels. I look around now and see these gentlemen bold enough in place of their former weakness to disregard the clearest provisions of the constitutional law. After the war is over in which they took none except a wordy part. They have relapsed into their original status as politicians who held the constitution at too slight a value to be either valiantly defended or treated with reverence." Finally he declared: "I, who have honestly striven as I knew how to administer this Government in accordance with the Constitution, shall be sacrificed along with the constitutional prerogatives of the President's office, to party necessity. Jefferson Davis, the head and front of the rebellion, is not brought to trial yet. Congress proposes to try the President at once, and for what kind of offence, compared with that of Davis, the country and the Senate may perhaps justly decide."

In the Senate a memorial against the admission of Colorado as a State, was presented and tabled.

The bill passed amending the judiciary act of 1779 authorizing writs of error to be taken to the Supreme Court where suits are brought relative to collection of internal revenue, after the money has been paid into the treasury.

The Senate non-concurred in the amendment directing the proceeds of sales of captured and abandoned property to be paid into the treasury.

The funding bill, introduced by the Committee of Conference, came up.

Corbett spoke in opposition to the bill.

Dixon made a general political speech, arraigning the Republican party for its course towards the South.

The bill was laid over and the Senate went into executive session and adjourned.

Van Wyck, from the Committee on Retrenchment, made a report on the reported fictitious destruction of bonds by the Treasury Department.

Logan objected to receiving the report till testimony was also transmitted.

Van Wyck said the committee did not deem it necessary to concur.

Logan still objected, declaring that the evidence would show that he was justified in making charges.

A somewhat heated colloquy took place between Logan and Van Wyck. Logan obtained the floor and defined his own position and declared that if the Treasury Department was charged with anything it had attorneys at both ends of the Capitol to choke a man down or cover him over with slime. One would suppose the Treasury Department was filled with archangels, Michael at their head, and that there was no such thing as corruption here. He asked the Committee on Retrenchment to state whether or not it had knowledge of the fact that the Treasury Department had redeemed seventy thousand dollars of counterfeit United States bonds some time ago, which fact had not been made public. Van Wyck said that when the question came up on inquiry, it would be answerable. Logan resumed and continued at considerable length in denouncing the corruption of the Treasury Department. He believed officials in the Treasury were defrauding Government, not only by the sale of bonds but by giving out dues, paying counterfeit bonds and duplicate bonds.

Jeff Davis and Hancock.

The Tribune's New Orleans special says the opposition city papers are still apologizing for the conduct of Jeff Davis and Hancock on the occasion of the firemen's parade. Not one of them condemns them. Hancock's policy, which seems still more and more ominous to the city. Notes have depreciated 25 per cent. discount, and a panic exists in the city. The Mayor of the city, in anticipation of trouble, has issued a proclamation to-day indirectly charging Gen. Hancock and the leading rebels here with the responsibility in any event that may occur. The people are anxiously hoping that Grant will put a safer and abler commander to administer affairs in this district. The Convention adjourns to-morrow.

The Case of Alabama.

Financial Matters.

NEW YORK, March 11.—Gen. Spinner emphatically asserts that the Government has not lost one dollar by the transaction referred to by Logan. He says the destroyed sheets were blank paper which had been laid out for printing as bonds, but were not printed.

Much interest has been manifested in regard to the forthcoming report of the Committee on Retrenchment. The Committee has been engaged in the examination of frauds in the payment of taxes on whisky and tobacco, and their report says the President had abundant evidence in numerous cases, showing conclusively that many unfaithful officers remained undisturbed. Cases have been reported where individuals have amassed princely fortunes, yet not a single criminal has been made to disgorge the fruits of his crime. Not one has been made to suffer the penalty of a violated law. The report goes on to say that with the honest payment of the whisky tax, $200,000,000 could have been realized where only $20,400,000 have been secured. The Committee say that, did not the President stand like adamant to protect his friends in office, McCulloch and Commissioner Rollins, could have prevented much fraud. The committee describe the manner of perpetrating the frauds, and says some of the worst men secure appointments as inspectors and agents. Some even lately graduated from the State prison. They think the tax should be thirty cents per gallon.

Further from the New Hampshire Elections.

CONCORD, N. H., March 11.—Returns from 170 towns give Harriman, Republican, 35,792; Sinclair, 30,907. Fifty-eight towns and small places remain to hear from. The Republican majority will probably be 3,000. The vote probably exceeds 72,000, the largest ever polled in the State. The legislature is largely Republican.

A later dispatch says, correct returns from 181 towns give Harriman 34,603; Sinclair, 31,786.

Political Matters.

ALBANY, March 11.—The Democratic Convention met to-day. Delegates to the National Convention are instructed to vote as a unit. Curtin received 109 votes for Vice President; Ben. Wade, 22. Hartranft Campbell was unanimously nominated for re-election as Attorney General.

The Great Storm.

CHICAGO, March 10.—Reports of damage by freshets continue to be received from all quarters. The great Rock Island railroad bridge over the Mississippi was badly damaged by the breaking up of an ice gorge. Some spans are shoved partially off the piers and moved ten feet out of position. Coffer dams on the rapids were swept away, and Rock Island and Davenport were flooded. Many citizens were turned out. Loss of property and very heavy damage. At Cleveland and Toledo, also very great. The freshet throughout Michigan was tremendous. Trains everywhere are delayed by damage to bridges.

General Angel Martinez had ordered his release, but he was arrested the second time, and his friends threaten to use force. The affair may yet end in bloodshed. The leaders in the Northwestern Confederacy scheme look for protection from the United States.

HAVANA, March 10.—The mail steamer from Vera Cruz says the trials of persons alleged to have been engaged in the late conspiracy to overthrow the Juarez Government are progressing. Their plan was to assassinate the members of Juarez's Cabinet and everyone they could get at, to seize the palace, then rob the treasury and indulge in scenes of rapine and murder. Troops had been dispatched to quell the revolution at Mazatlan. The affairs of Cortez & Co., New York agents for the Mexican Loan, had been satisfactorily settled.

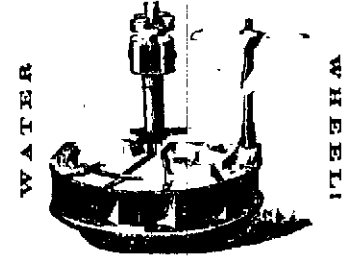
LEFFEL'S

AMERICAN DOUBLE TURBINE



THESE WHEELS, UNEQUALLED AND UNRIVALLED in the United States or the world, have been fully tested on this coast, many being in use at this date, driving all kinds of machinery, Saw Mills, Flour Mills, Quartz Mills, Woolen Factories, &c., &c.

The following is from the Springfield Republic:—

Trial of Water Wheels.

Messrs. Jonathan Child and John A. McCreight, who are about establishing mills and factories at Harper's Ferry, Va., wished to procure water wheels, and desiring to make a choice of Springfield Wheels, procured a trial between the Leffel Double-Turbine and the Welch and Burns Wheel. The following report of the Committee shows the result of the trial:

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 11, 1867.

This is to certify, that on the 9th and 10th days of October, 1867, I, in company with Mr. Staley, Civil Engineer, of Mechanicsburg, carefully measured the amount of water used in the test between the 10 inch Leffel Turbine and the 10 inch Welch & Burns Water wheels, made by Bechtle, Blakeney & Baker, made at Weinier's mill, near West Milton, Miami Co., O. The contract requiring the tests to be made with ½ gates and ¾ gates, with the same amount of water for each wheel. The amount of grinding was superintended by Mr. Charles Morgan, who will report the results.

The amount of water used in the tests, as measured by myself and Mr. Staley, is as follows:

	C.ft. per min.
At ½ gate the Leffel Wheel used	84.224
" " Welch & Burns used	83.224
At ¾ gate the Leffel Wheel used	117.528
" " Welch & Burns used	117.528

The grinding was continued for one hour each test.

WILLIAM BROWN, Civil Engineer.

Having been chosen by both parties to determine the amount of grain ground by each of the above-mentioned wheels, the result was as follows:

The Leffel Wheel at ½ gate ground	256 lbs
The Welch & Burns at ½ gate ground	50½ lbs
The Leffel Wheel at ¾ gate ground	411½ lbs
The Welch & Burns at ¾ gate ground	192 lbs

CHARLES MORGAN.

An Enterprising firm of this city have imported a few of the above CHEAP, PLATED-OUT WHEELS. "They GUARANTEE THEM EQUAL TO THE LEFFEL, OR NO PAY."

New York Gold Quotations [illegible]

[illegible] — We quote the following from the Walla Walla Statesman:

The Oregonian of a recent date says the up country papers in their strictures against Postal Agent Brooks have done that gentleman great injustice, he having no authority to make any mail contracts. That is correct. But Mr. Q. A. Brooks took it upon himself to state through the public prints before the close of navigation that the up country people would be provided with tolerably regular mails when the boats should cease to make trips, etc., etc. The trouble is Mr. Brooks promised a great deal and failed to make good his promises. If he had not made such a great blow out about what he would do in the way of mail service for the upper country, some other arrangement, either by public or private enterprise, would have been effected for the transmission of mail matter. The short of it is, if Mr. Brooks had no authority to make mail arrangements such as he proposed, he should have made no gratuitous promises of that kind. If he had promised nothing the people would not have blamed him for accomplishing nothing.

We copy the above, not for the purpose of championing Mr. Brooks, but to show the Statesman and other papers that they are unjustly abusing a very efficient public officer. In the first place, while Mr. Brooks has no authority to make contracts, he is permitted to make temporary arrangements the best he can, in cases of compulsory stoppage of mail carriage, subject always to the approval or disapproval of the Post Office Department. In no case can he exercise any further or greater powers of that description. Next, Mr. Brooks did state through the papers that in case the river closed, he would arrange for a regular letter mail service, but he did it gratuitously ... in the way of making a "blow out about what he would do." He was at that time receiving more letters on that subject, asking what he could do, what he would do in case the river closed, etc., than any living man could have answered by letter. He might have treated them all with silence, but he preferred to be courteous, and so he replied to all at once, through the press. That is just how he made a "gratuitous," great blow out about what he would do. Mr. Brooks did not promise anything but what he performed. A weekly letter mail—all that he promised—was carried with regularity between Portland and the Dalles; more than that was simply impracticable; those who talk about transporting the tons of paper mail by the mountain trail are excessively ignorant of what they are talking about. Mr. Brooks did all that he promised, all that he could do, all that any man could have done with his restricted authority, and vastly more than any Postal Agent ever did before. To abuse him under such circumstances, is unjust and mean.

NEW MAIL SCHEDULES.—A change in the departure and arrival of the mails on the routes from Portland to McMinnville, and from the latter place to Grand Ronde, has been ordered by Postal Agent Brooks, commencing on the 16th inst. On the former route, the mails will leave Portland Monday and Thursday at 7 A. M., arrive at McMinnville next days by 1 P. M., making close connection at Lafayette with the mail from Corvallis. Returning, leave McMinnville Tuesday and Friday at 2 P. M., and arrive at Portland next days at 8 P. M. The object of the change is to secure a proper connection with the Corvallis route, and under this arrangement mail matter from the south will reach McMinnville and places beyond three days sooner than heretofore. The following is the schedule for the route from McMinnville to Grand Ronde: Leave McMinnville Tuesday at 2 P. M.; arrive at Grand Ronde next day by 11 A. M. Returning, leave Grand Ronde Monday at 3 P. M., and arrive at McMinnville next day by 12 M. This schedule avoids an unnecessary detention at McMinnville, and secures to mail matter from the south, destined to points beyond McMinnville, an arrival of four days sooner. This saving of four days, added to the above of three days, makes a total of seven days, which will be beneficial to all mail interests, especially to those papers published at Salem and points further south.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, JUDGE.—Proceedings of Thursday, the 13th:

Barney Trainor vs. Multnomah county, mandate from the Supreme Court ordered to be placed on record. This was an action brought to recover $50, deposited in the County Treasury for license, which was refused to be refunded by the County Court; on appeal to the Circuit Court the judgment of the County Court was reversed and the money ordered to be refunded; on appeal to the Supreme Court the judgment of the Circuit Court was reversed.

State of Oregon vs. James Timons, indicted for burglary; the jury deliberated on the verdict, and being unable to agree were discharged.

John Catlin vs. Jos. Knott, action for Attorney's fees of $150; verdict of jury for plaintiff $172 30.

Albert Hardman vs. John M. Tice, confirmation of ...ff's sale of lot 5, Block 20 in Caruther's Addition to the city of Portland.

State of Oregon vs. James Kelly; indicted for burglary; jury empanneled: H. W. Davis, L. Bettman, ... Bryan, Patrick Quinn, D. O. Lewis, S. B. Parrish, Lewis Fuller, G. H. Robinson, L. Besser, C. W. Higgins, ... and Henry Eastman.

Patrick Quinn was admitted a citizen of the United States on the testimony of Jacob Kamm and H. C. Coulson.

OIL MILL AT SALEM.—Mr. C. M. Cartwright, the principal owner in the Salem oil mill, arrived down from Salem yesterday, on business connected with the manufacture and disposal of linseed oil, oil cake, etc. He informed us last evening that he had effected satisfactory arrangements with parties in this city, and that, hereafter, those who may want either of those articles will be able to obtain them in any desired quantities. The mill is turning out raw, boiled and clarified oils, enough to go far toward supplying the trade of the State, and Mr. C. says that there is no longer any question but that they are equal in quality to anything of the similar kinds of oil imported.

PRODUCE.—Arrived per steamer Senator from Oregon City yesterday, 8 bales woolen goods, 86 boxes apples, 140 bags wheat, 15 sks fruit, 51 boxes miscellaneous produce, 8 bbls dried apples, 3 boxes beeswax, 42 sks feed, 114 bbls pork, 50 cases and 22 gunnies bacon, 17 boxes eggs, 3 boxes butter, 30 qr sks flour, 8 cases wool, ... sks ... Per Alert from Oregon City, 1,700 bags wheat, 178 boxes apples, 40 qr sks flour, 4 cases beef, 1 bbl ash ley, 1 bale ... goods, 1 coop chickens. Per Wenat from Oregon City, yesterday and day before, 1,843 qr sks flour, 104 boxes apples, 10 gunnies dried apples, 7 boxes eggs. Per Rogue from Monticello, 160 bales hay, 2,000 feet of lumber.

NEARLY A FIRE.—During the absence, Wednesday evening, of Mr. E. J. Northrup and wife, the children placed a lighted candle so near a bed that the clothing caught fire. The children called to their grandfather, in the house, who with the assistance of a neighbor, succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Portions of the bedclothing were ruined and the paper of the wall was scorched and blackened. It was a narrow escape from a disastrous fire.

POLITICAL.—The Record tells an anecdote of Messrs Jos. Holman and J. L. Parrish. Mr. Holman, who had just received a nomination for State Senator, was saying (perhaps to make a little capital) that he cut the first tree felled near Salem prairie. Mr. Parrish, who was standing by, added, "Yes, and I made the axe you cut it with." Holman was not much ahead on the pioneer question.

RAILROAD SUPERINTENDENT APPOINTED.—Mr. M. S. Hart, a gentleman who for many years was a successful railroad contractor in the Eastern States, and whose experience has been probably as large as that of any man now on this coast, has been appointed General Superintendent of the Oregon Central Railroad, (west side) and will have full charge of the construction of the line.

MRS. SAWTELLE'S LECTURE TO LADIES.—In setting up the advertisement for Mrs. Sawtelle's private lecture to ladies, the time got wrong, yesterday morning. Instead of "this afternoon," it should have read "to-morrow afternoon." It may be sufficient to state now that the lecture will take place this (Friday) afternoon, as per corrected advertisement in this morning's paper.

THE TUALATIN RIVER.—We learn that the Tualatin river is so much obstructed with drifts that the steamer is not able yet to ascend as far as Forest Grove. Hands are now employed in clearing out the drifts, which may occupy the greater part of a week yet.

THE COLUMBIA OPEN.—Capt. Wolff last evening informed us that the Dalles boat brought down information yesterday that the Columbia is now open, the ice at Hell Gate having broken up and floated out. The Owyhee went as far up as Umatilla.

TO DAVID GHARKY, JR.—Died in Santa Cruz, Cal., Jan. 20, 1868, Nancy Ann Gharky, wife of David Gharky. If David Gharky, Jr., calls at Portland and Dalles he will find letters.

AUCTION SALE OF REAL ESTATE.—Mr. A. B. Richardson, Auctioneer, sold at auction yesterday, lot 1 in block 43, Couch's Addition, for $800, and lot 2 in same block, for $500.

AUCTION SALES.—Falk & Kraemer will sell to-day at 10 o'clock, a very large variety of desirable goods. Attention is directed to their advertisement.

Apropos of the Fejeean business, an anecdote is exhumed of Commodore Biddle at Jeddo Bay in 1846. One day he attempted to visit a Japanese junk, but as he clambered over her bulwarks, a sentry pushed him back into his gig. The Commodore returned in a rage to his ship, and sent a peremptory demand for an apology and indemnity for the insult. Within a quarter of an hour an answer came back that the sentry had acted without orders, and that his head had been promptly cut off and was now at the service of the Commodore.

It is said that Augusta J. Evans is to write a new novel in which the lovers amuse themselves in their lighter moments with the problem of integral and differential calculus. In their serious words they talk to each other of the origin of the Chaldaic and Sanscrit tongues.

The Pain Killer Abroad.

The following correspondence will show something of the estimation in which Perry Davis' Pain Killer is held on the shores of the Mediterranean. It is not surprising that a medicine that receives such testimonials as this from abroad, should find well sustained and increasing appreciation at home.

U. S. CONSULATE, Tunis, Dec. 27, 1865.

To the Proprietors of Davis' Pain Killer, Providence, R. I.: Gentlemen—The enclosed has just been received from my friend Tulin, late Consul General of Norway and Sweden and of Prussia, in this place. No comment is needed. Truly yours, AMOS PERRY.

GENOA, December 16, 1865.

Dear Sir:—Accept thanks for this third supply of Davis' "Pain Killer." This medicine has often relieved me of serious indisposition, and I would not on any account consent to be without it, both for myself and my family.

I have recommended it to my late colleagues and friends in Tunis and Genoa, and at my request one of the largest druggists in this city has sent an order to New York to meet the demand in the place.

Yours truly, G. A. TULIN,

Ex Consul Gen'l of Sweden, Norway & Prussia in Tunis.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here and in the markets of the interior a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Bilious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water; Invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels.

Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache, General Debility, Nervousness, Depression of Spirits, Constipation, Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms, and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or

PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES.

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind, no deadly botanical element, no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants, with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants.

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia, and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion. Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver, it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs.

Persons of feeble habit, liable to Nervous Attacks, Lowness of Spirits and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive, and from both sexes.

As a Genuine Tonic, HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness, Premature Decay and Debility, and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant. When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re-enforce and re-establish them.

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and innocuous materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day.

Beards

WITH A WORD OR TWO ON MOUSTACHES.

[From Cassell's English Magazine

The revived custom, now pretty general, of wearing a beard, we probably owe to the Crimean War, and to the popularity of our army returning victorious and bearded from their campaign after having had neither time nor opportunity amid work in the trenches to shave. The history of the beard is not an uninteresting subject of research, considering the important part it has played in the world. Most likely Tubal Cain drove a good trade in razors. At all events we read of shaving at a very early period as an established custom. Joseph, released from prison, could not think of going before Pharaoh until he had "shaved his beard." Herodotus tells us that the early Egyptians always shaved, and made their slaves follow their example. Yet, with singular inconsistency, these people wore false beards (which accounts for the artificial looking chin adornments of rows of tight curls in the Egyptian monuments) as a distinguishing badge of rank. Great personages—kings and gods—wore great beards, the former a huge square miracle of curling tongs, the latter a large one turned up at the end. Little people had little beards according to their littleness, a small tuft at the extremity of the chin; whilst slaves, who were thought nobody, had, very properly, no beards at all. In their sculpture the Egyptians depict their enemies with slovenly, untidy and contemptible beards. But the Ninevites grew the finest beards of remote antiquity, unless their sculptors have exaggerated in Mr. Layard's slabs, though perhaps a thought too stiff and formal.

The Hebrews wore hair on their chins, but not on their upper lips or cheeks. This was wise, since in time of grief they had to pluck out the hair, and it would probably be less painful from this part than from the more sensitive sides of the face or lips. They resented an outrage offered to the beard as the most bitter insult possible to enmity. In this they were not singular, most nations having united in a veneration for fine beards. Indeed, to this day there is a certain amount of respect attached to the owner of a long and flowing beard. The Turks would rather be publicly whipped and branded with a hot iron than be shaved, while the Arabs protect their beards as an article of religious faith, because the Prophet never cut his. Hence a sultan has never known a razor to his head, though he is very particular about shaving his slaves in the seraglio as a token of their servitude.

The beard has been worn as a badge of royalty, of ecclesiastical distinction, and of certain professional attainments. The old French kings were great on beards. Some even wore theirs, like the old kings of Persia, knotted with golden thread, and buttoned with gold. Being permitted to touch a king's beard was long held by the Gauls as a pledge of protection; and for a long while the sovereign used to place three hairs of his beard in the seal of his letters in witness of his own hand and chin.

King Robert of France, in the tenth century, used to wear his long white beard in battle displayed over his cuirass; and the sight of it frequently nerved his flagging troops, and secured him victory over his enemies. Henry the Fourth of France, was [illegible] for his beard. We are told it "gave to the countenance of that prince a majestic dignity, and which ought to serve as a model for that of every great king, as the beard of his illustrious minister should for that of every great statesman." The favorite color was black, turned up at the point; and when Louis the Fourt[illegible] adopted the new mode, the fashion grew [illegible] it became usual for beaux of the [illegible] to carry whisker-wax in their pockets, together with a small comb and brush, wherewith they might arrange their moustaches. In the reign of Louis the Thirteenth the [illegible] of whiskers and beards in Paris was doomed. They [illegible] into forms called respectively Spanish, Turkish, Guard-dagger, and finally, Royal whiskers. This latter term was, as Artemus Ward says, "sarcastical"; for as the heir to royalty was hairless, it meant the absence of hair. The people, indeed, shaved more and more, until they invented that great national razor, the guillotine.

Peter the Great very nearly caused a general insurrection by taxing his subjects' beards, but when [illegible] came to see the ukase in the light of "Shave, or have your heads shaved off," [illegible] their beards and shaved their faces.

The [illegible] has always had something to say about beards. [illegible] followers have been enjoined [illegible] an air of gravity and patriarchal wisdom to its ecclesiastics, at other times [illegible] have been led to think that pride lurked behind handsome locks on the chin. The charge of the late Bishop of R[illegible] against beards caused no little stir in the diocese. The Greek and Romish Church have long been at issue on this very question. At the time of their separation the Romanists laid down stringent rules about shaving, whilst the Greeks retained their old patriarchal practice of beard-wearing, and indeed professed themselves much scandalized at the smooth faced images of the saints in the Romish church. In the middle ages the Romish monks shaved their chins, but the lay brothers did not until admitted into full communion. Prayers are still extant to be used at the ceremony of consecrating the beard to God when an ecclesiastic was shaven. A similar ceremony used to be observed among the Romans, who dedicated the products of their first shaving to Jupiter Capitolinus, laying up the hair in a box of silver or gold in the temple of the god. The Tartars waged long and bloody war with the Persians simply because they refused to cut their beards to match the pattern ordered by the Tartar Church, and the old Hebrews trimmed their beards square cornered by the ceremonial law.

Beards have served, too, as professional distinctions, especially in the cases of the priest, the physician and the philosopher. Fenelon tells us of a priest of Apollo with his beard down to his girdle, and Aaron and his beard is familiar and inseparable. Æsculapius, the physician, with the golden beard, is universally celebrated. Almost all the old philosophers wore long hair on their chins. The Gymnosophists, according to Strabo, were careful to let theirs grow long enough to "captivate" the veneration of beholders, while Socrates was called by a pupil Bearded Master, as a title of respect. Euphrates, a Laconian sage, on being asked why he allowed his snow white beard to attain such a length, replied "that, having my white beard continually before my eyes, I may do nothing unworthy of its whiteness."

The longest beard on record is that of John Mayo, a celebrated German painter, surnamed "John the Bearded," who used to fasten it up in his girdle. Though a very tall man, it reached the ground when loose, so that he could step on it. The Emperor Charles the Fifth used to divert himself by making John stand in the open air among his courtiers, that he might watch the wind make it fly in the faces of the lords.

Of Sir Thomas Moore, it is said that on the scaffold he saved his beard by a joke. The executioner had already lifted the axe to strike when his victim, looking up for a moment, exclaimed "At least let me put aside my beard; that has committed no treason, and it would be an injustice to punish it."

Specifics for dyeing the beard of the particular color approved by fashion have been common enough in all ages; but a recipe adopted, the writer is assured, very extensively by possessors of moustaches a shade too red to pass muster, is of too great importance to remain secret from the general public, especially as some reader may be at this moment languishing for the very information. Here is the wrinkle. Take a fresh cabbage leaf, cut out a piece the required shape, and tie up your moustache in it for the night. Next morning it will be several shades darker. By repeating the process you may make your hair as dark as you please. As the quacks say, "This is genuine."

The subject of beards naturally brings one to barbers. It is only so lately as 1745 that the barbers were separated from the surgeons by an act of Parliament entitled "An Act for making the Surgeons and Barbers of London two distinct and separate Corporations," whilst up to a date certainly within the memory of some of us, it was the custom for matriculated barbers [illegible] once a year at Oxford and Cambridge with the proctors.

It is related of a very peppery military officer, that, entering the shop of a remarkably nervous barber, whose tremulous hands had notched his chin before, he laid down his sword on the table beside him, and threatened to run the barber through the first abrasion of his skin. For a moment the artist's hand trembled more violently than ever; then, as if possessed with a new idea, he seized the officer's nose, and with about three bold and vigorous sweeps of the razor, mowed clean the stubby chin before him. His customer sheathing his sword, asked what sudden reflection had nerved his hand. "This," said the barber, "had I cut you I should have seen the first blood, and before you had time to use your sword, I would have whisked your head off with the razor;" which was so satisfactory to the officer that the barber never shaved him more.

One should not leave the subject of barbers without a word of practical advice. Reader, should you ever want to be shaved in a strange town, don't go to a hairdresser's, pick out the lowest, dirtiest barber's shop you can find with the orthodox striped pole and get shaved for a penny—a half penny, if possible, for the cheaper the shave the more practice has the barber, and the better it is done.

An inquisitive person once asked Sir Humphrey Davy, "What is the reason that it is so much better to strop your razor immediately after using it?" "Because," replied the philosopher, "you then know how much it wants." If those persons who daily spend a quarter of an hour in rasping away at their chins, would remember Sir Humphrey Davy's remark, and act upon it, they would do their skins a kindness, and learn the first requisite of "easy shaving." This the more important, since the diminution in the number of barbers year by year is so rapid that it becomes doubtful whether the few remaining shavers of the next generation will not have to shave themselves. Perhaps we shall then enter on a period like that described by Cicero, when for four hundred years Rome was without a barber.

This last story is from English history. In 1831, when Ministers vied with people who should do most for the newly emancipated West Indian slaves, our Government, represented by Lord Howick and Lord Goderich, actually made an Order in Council, directing each negro to be supplied by the State with two razors per annum, and this in defiance of the debate which arose on the question, at which Mr. Hume stated that for his part a shilling razor had lasted him for the past twelve years. The razors, however, were sent, and, after they were gone, Lords Howick and Goderich became for the first time aware of the physiological fact that negroes have no beards to shave.

Grant and the President

The New York Tribune of February 12th comments as follows on the statements of the members of the Cabinet in regard to the differences between Grant and the President:

The Cabinet officers, who were requested to sustain the President's narrative as to what occurred at a Cabinet meeting, scarcely agree. Welles writes such a letter as Justice Stareleigh would have written had he been Secretary of the Navy. McCulloch and Randall unequivocally endorse the President, although Randall, much to our surprise, fails to notice that Gen. Grant acted like a "liar and a sneak," as he is reported to have said at the time. Seward makes a guarded reply. He gives the interesting news that the conversation "was respectful and courteous on both sides," and, alluding to Johnson's narrative, says: "I did not understand General Grant as denying, neither as explicitly admitting, these statements in the form and full extent to which you made them." In other words, the Secretary does not commit himself to the President's story, but doubts it in a diplomatic way. The President concludes by intimating that the General is insubordinate. The General's reply is brief, frank and soldierly. The charge of insubordination he overthrows by showing that while the President gave him a vague and meaningless order, intended to entice him into an infraction of law, the Postmaster General and Secretary of the Treasury directly and officially communicated with the Secretary of War. So ends this business. Johnson comes out of it as one willing to wound, but yet afraid to strike, and recalls a story which one of his strongest supporters occasionally tells of him. "The President," this friend is reported as saying, "reminds me of a celebrated fighting cock I used to own. I bought him for his valor and energy. He was a glorious bird, with spurs like arrows, gorgeous feathers, and a lusty, menacing crow—such a crow as might alarm a city. Well, I took him to the pit, and had him ready for the contest. He only flapped his wings and crowed, and then backed up into a corner, and stood still. There was no fight in him. He was too cowardly to fight, and too plucky to run away. All he did was crow." We commend this story to the President as the best commentary we can make upon his correspondence with Grant.

James Brooks, the Democratic leader from New York, insists that the ensuing election is to decide whether this is a white man's government—a cool suggestion, truly, when we recollect that this Mr. Brooks is the same who, not many years ago, was the vociferous organ and leader of a party that proposed practically to disfranchise and degrade every white man born in another country!

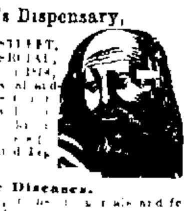
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,



616 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as [illegible] all the forms of [illegible] Impotency, [illegible] years' standing and [illegible] successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of [illegible] male and female are there who [illegible] until death [illegible] see the scene. Let parents, guardians, [illegible] any of these [illegible] that they are cured [illegible] Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private [illegible] who have [illegible] with those without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted [illegible] interested in the welfare of their [illegible] of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, gathering their skill by curing all diseases in a few days [illegible] the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be [illegible] make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice or depraved [illegible] by the youth of both sexes to a [illegible] producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves, or rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania, and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained at [illegible] either in person or by letter and have a [illegible] by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was not [illegible] either of the San Francisco [illegible]

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. GIBBON, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen, and being too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory, and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupation. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid Imposition is to make enquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patient's letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 616 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER.

INSTITUTE.

* CONSULTATION, IN ALL CASES, FREE.*

* CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED.*

* IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED.*

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in trouble to the invariable success that has marked the career of this Institute in the seventeen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge,

SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

That is sapping with insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

READ! READ!

I am aware that by dwelling upon so [illegible] subject as the decay of manly vigor through the vital principle of life, the ignorant may [illegible] tive; but the desire to point out to those [illegible] guish and decay, the true cause of their [illegible] great an incentive to be forced into [illegible] tended the terrible disease of Seminal W[illegible] one but the practical specialist who devotes [illegible] treatment can tell; but its presence can [illegible] the most inexperienced by noting the following symptoms: Weakness of the back and limbs, [illegible] feelings, loss of muscular power, nervousness, cold feet or hands, accompanied by hot flushes, [illegible] of consumption, short breath, flushings of the [illegible] sion to society, confusion of the mind; loss of [illegible] nightly emissions; colorless; slight [illegible] least excitement; trembling; palpitation of the heart; irregular appetite; variable temper, etc.

YOUNG MAN, if you experience any of the symptoms enumerated above, pause to consider. [illegible] in the golden [illegible] in which you [illegible] health and [illegible]. You may feel strong [illegible] you have ever practiced the vice of self-abuse, [illegible] you have the seeds of weakness in your system, and their undermining influence sooner or later, dash the fair edifice of your [illegible] ground, leaving you a helpless, abject being. [illegible] disease that declares itself at once. There is [illegible] est danger; for while the patient is being treated [illegible] affection of the Heart, Lungs, Brain, or Digestion, he sinks into a general debility that [illegible] to the list of the victims of the terrible [illegible] Weakness.

See in the bent form and languishing steps the victim of the fascinating vice. Mark the [illegible] destructive complaint in the hollow cheek and [illegible]

Drowsiness is one of the premonitory symptoms; at first it is easily shaken off, but it grows [illegible] gent disinclination to pursue his regular business, mind becomes apprehensive, and restless nights [illegible] days of depression.

It is the nature of the complaint to [illegible] changes that leave the poor victim but little hope of recovery. In a single instant it may [illegible] hopes and blast your honest aspirations.

Marriage is sought by a natural impulse as a relief. This is an error of the first magnitude, [illegible] tem unprepared for the exigencies of the [illegible] denly fails, and he finds himself in a deplorable [illegible] from which there is but the slightest hope. [illegible] Or if the marriage should result in offspring [illegible] ny, distorted, decrepid, and degenerate. [illegible] ble to both sexes, whether married or single, [illegible] times of life.

Do not delay if you feel any of the symptoms [illegible] rible complaint, or if your acts have been [illegible] to them, but by instant application secure [illegible] only hope of health and happiness. The [illegible] mercury or other deleterious drugs [illegible] time, always guaranteed, and full and [illegible] stored.

The afflicted are assured of every confidence [illegible]

PERSONS AFFLICTED WITH [illegible] NERMAL.

During the seventeen years since the [illegible] the Institute, the number of cases of [illegible] been treated, show a record unequalled [illegible] in the world, and the success that has [illegible] the course of treatment.

Without Mercury or other [illegible] Drugs,

Shows conclusively the use of them to be not [illegible] called for, but actually dangerous, for [illegible] established medical principle that those [illegible] by entering the blood, ruin the constitution [illegible] life.

The Doctor effects a cure in recent cases, [illegible] and there is no difficulty in curing those of long [illegible] without subjecting the patient to such treatment [illegible] draw upon him the slightest suspicion, or [illegible] neglect his business, whether in-doors or [illegible] diet need not be changed. Cures always [illegible] or pay required.

IMPORTANT TO F[illegible]

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with [illegible] requires medical or surgical assistance, the inquiry [illegible] be "Where is there a physician competent to [illegible] relief, and whose respectable standing in [illegible] entitled him to the confidence of the [illegible] Doctor, understanding how imperatively [illegible] requirements are, feels called upon to [illegible] calling the attention of the afflicted to the [illegible] he is a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases [illegible] years, and is fully qualified to administer to [illegible] both medically and surgically, not in a [illegible] but in a thorough a manner as years of study and [illegible] —both in hospitals and private families—can [illegible] them from the hands of the unqualified, [illegible] designing. Therefore families can rely upon [illegible] a father. All in affliction can find in him one [illegible] and sympathize with and befriend them in [illegible] in whose secrecy the utmost confidence can be [illegible] consultation by letter or otherwise, free. Cures [illegible] feed in all weakness and trouble incidental to [illegible] Private apartments are provided when desired, [illegible] be had all the advantages of uninterrupted attention of the Doctor, and the most skillful and faithful [illegible]

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—Persons, either male or [illegible] residing in the interior, are often deterred from [illegible] the Doctor because they cannot spare the time, [illegible] the expense of a visit to the city. To such he would say that a plain statement of the symptoms and [illegible] bearing upon the complaint will enable him to [illegible] for them so that they can be cured at home. [illegible] have any false delicacy about writing, no matter what the nature of their complaint, as the communication will be seen by no one except the Doctor, and will be treated with the utmost confidence and either be returned or [illegible]
